What is Jottit.com?

Released by Aaron Swartz in 2007, Jottit.com is a website that allows anyone to quickly and simply create their own web page. Upon entering text into the text box on the main page, Jottit.com automatically generates a page for the user. By manipulating the "settings" and "designs," users are able to customize the appearance, web address and other options for their site. By streamlining the web page creation process, Jottit.com is a great for blogs and simple websites.
