What is that Typeface?

If you ever find yourself in the situation where you have to match a typeface but don't have the original file, then this web site may be of use. Simply scan or take a screen shot of said font and upload it to this web site: What the Font?!

I have found this to be very accurate depending on the quality of the uploaded image.